WORTH THE PRICE.

The old question as to who won the war has given place to the question as to who won in the armaments conference. Wide discussion of the latter question is reported from Washington, at any rate, and the same thing is noticeable in the editorial comment of prominent newspapers. Wherever there is any tendency toward anglophobia there is a disposition to contend that Great Britain won as usual. Where there is no pronounced tendency of this sort there is likely to be found the opinion that Japan, far and away, was the winner. Certainly the agreements in detail seem to show that both won more and gave up less than the United States.

In the matter of Pacific agreements the United States engages to halt all its operations, actual or intended, west of Hawaii. Under Article XIX we can not build any more fortifications in the Philippines nor any at all in Guam or the Aleutians. The work of converting Guam into a first-class naval station must stop. Though Great Britain yielded in Hong Kong, which is said not to be an important matter, she is free to build the greatest naval base in the east at Singapore, and she may construct fortifications without limit in her insular possessions in the neighborhood of Australia and New Zealand. Great Britain is said to be scarcely less well pleased than is Japan with Article XIX. Japan agrees to maintain the status quo in her islands reaching down toward the Philippines, which she can well afford to do because she can greatly through America's concessions, and "wins 100 to 0" so far as Siberia is concerned.

Though Japan's may be the greater triumph, the cause of peace was through Japan's release from the fear of American aggression. The taxpayers also win through the cutting down of fortification expenses. The fortification competition between Great Britain, Japan and the United States is checked as well as the race in naval construction. If the senate ratifies the agreements, the promise of peace and reduced preparedness costs ought to be greatly strengthened and through this the whole world would gain as well as the three nations most concerned. Less is accomplished than was hoped for, but any gain at all is welcome and cause for congratulation. Whether the United States has surrendered disproportionately or not, whether "America's claws" in the Pacific have been "clipped," as is asserted, whether the agreements are as equitable and perfect as they ought to be, it is important to remember that while they stand they may avert a world-tossing catastrophe. It is worth while to give in order to gain so much.

HEROES IN CALAMITY.

Pessimists who contend that the moral fiber of civilized humanity has weakened may find something to reflect upon in the accounts of the Washington theatre disaster. In an audience drawn from all the walks of life there were exhibitions of heroism and fortitude quite equal to those displayed in battle and in such catastrophes as overtook the Titanic and the Lusitania. And there were examples of unselfishness that can be accounted for only through the existence of a sturdy and still unimpaired moral fiber. The coward and the beast may have been unmasked here and there, as is apt to be the case in all such calamities, but the encouraging picture, and the one on which it is more agreeable to dwell, has to do with brave and unselfish men and women who faced the situation with inspiring fortitude.

It is said that such instances as the following might be multiplied: "One man was found maimed and pinned among the tangled debris, who begged the rescuing party to let him remain until they had attended to the women and children. The girl he had escorted to the place was dead with her arm twisted around him, and she succumbed soon after he was taken to the hospital. Others waited for hours in spite of suffering until their turn came and never uttered a complaint. There was a laugh at misfortune by a victim with shattered legs whose grimy companion during the dreary vigil was a dead woman by his side, and the only comfort he asked while being removed was a cigarette."

The first session of the International Court of Justice in the Peace Palace at The Hague, beginning on January 30, has attracted less attention than it deserves. An American, Elihu Root, was largely active in its organization, and the United States was powerfully concerned in its creation. In the undertaking there is promise of immeasurable benefit to civilization and all mankind, for by this great world-court facilities will be provided for the peaceful adjustment upon the principles of law and justice, as applied by a competent and impartial tribunal, of all the inevitable controversies between nations over questions of their rights and interests.

Can You Answer These Questions?
 1. I have a nine months old alligator that will not eat, and it cries at night. What shall I do for it?
 2. How do cels propagate?
 3. How does the partridge or native pheasant make the drumming noise? Does the sound come from the wings, or from the leg he drums on?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. I took into the house some so-called "tollage plants" that are covered with small white bugs that leave a tiny cocoon all over the plant, looking like mold. What is it? What can I do?
 Without a specimen we can only guess. Probably an aphid of some kind. (On page 129 of "Sagardson and Jackson's Elementary Entomology" is a description of several species.) There are kinds that attack apple and grape that have a cottony or waxy exudation. Or it might be a scale insect, and likely is, as these infest greenhouse plants badly. Try tobacco spray, or kerosene emulsion, wetting the leaves and stems on all surfaces.

2. What bird lives longest?

We don't know that it is possible to answer positively, but ravens are considered as probably the Methuselahs of the bird world, sometimes living to 75 years. Parrots have been known to live 50 years, and wild geese are believed to be fairly long lived.

3. Do snakes coil themselves to spring at their prey?

Some do, as the diamond-back rattlesnake, which takes the coiled shape when stretched—it happens to be stretched at length—and draws its head and neck into a loop inside the circumference of the coil. But the copperhead and moccasin, for instance, will strike without coiling, even striking while they are crawling.

HIGHLAND.

Highland, Feb. 9.—There was a great deal of activity displayed Friday afternoon, February 8, as the Auxiliary Club members, to the number of 55, spent the afternoon at the J. W. Feeter home. A heart-felt welcome was given by the hostess, Mrs. Feeter, Mrs. Hudson, Mrs. Gansalus, Mrs. Fisher, The Rev. and Mrs. Foster A. Coons conducted the devotional exercises. The members sang two selections. Mrs. Feeter at the piano. After this routine business was taken up. The president, Mrs. S. E. Decker, extended a cordial welcome to members and guests. Various subjects of the day were found to interest all, one in particular was for a St. Patrick supper and sale March 17. Chairman of committees of this affair have been chosen and more will be said later on in regard to it. This club gets 500 toward the improvements made in the church parlor and hall, where suppers are held. This club received full membership four new members, namely, Mrs. J. Wood, Mrs. Ames, Mrs. William Maynard and Mrs. Goidt, and all are active and ready for work. It has been said that whatever is good or true in a community is due to the sentiment of the women and all took home a very good idea of what could be done by women in a country place. There are several features of club work to which personal and devoted attention is given. Many letters were read from members who had been remembered with flowers and fruit. These members are all ready to assist whenever the call comes to them. At the social hour members and guests partook of the sumptuous repast furnished by the hostess and enjoyed them hugely. They consisted of hot scolloped oysters, finger rolls, brown bread, jelly, pepper hash, crullers and coffee and cake. When all left expressions for the great meeting and pleasure of the afternoon were extended and best wishes for the Feeter household and other hostess who had been so hospitable.

Arthur Terpening was in Poughkeepsie Tuesday.

Mrs. A. W. Lee, who has been ill over four weeks, is improving to the delight of relatives and friends.

The Epworth League held a meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. George Hartshorn on Milton Avenue. Over 50 were present. They had moving pictures and a short program and a nice social time. Crullers and coffee were served and a nice sum of money for the fund, as the league pledged a certain sum for the repairs of the church parlor.

The official board of the M. E. Church held their regular business meeting Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Cornell with a very good number present. They transacted a large amount of business and then had a social, when the hostess served clam chowder, crackers, sandwiches and coffee.

The Rev. and Mrs. F. A. Coons were in New York City Saturday attending a wedding. The groom was a brother of the Rev. Mr. Coons and a practicing physician in Yonkers. The Rev. Coons officiated, tied the nuptial knot, and they had a fine time at the wedding.

Adonia Lodge, F. & A. M., held their meeting Monday evening.

O. E. S. will meet the 14th and at the close of the work they will have a social time, and something by way of St. Valentine. They meet the second and fourth Tuesdays in the month.

Mrs. George Main of Washington Avenue has been visiting her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. George Main, Jr., in Kingston.

Mrs. LeGrand Haviland returned from Dr. Sadler's sanitarium in Poughkeepsie last Wednesday evening. She is improving nicely.

Mrs. George Eyett and Mrs. Kraft, of Kingston, were guests of relatives in Poughkeepsie on last Wednesday.

Walter Constable was severely injured Thursday morning last at about 7:30. He was thrown from the sleigh and struck on his head, and was unconscious for some time. The doctor was summoned and found him pretty badly hurt. He is at present gaining slowly and the doctor thinks he will come out all right, with care. His many friends hope to hear of his rapid recovery.

The K. of P. Zeno Lodge of this place held initiation of candidates, also installed their officers Wednesday evening and had a grand meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Wilcox also Lawyer and Mrs. S. G. Carpenter were shoppers in New York City last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Auchmoody had as their guest week-end their daughter Gertrude, who is teaching in Monroe.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Merritt entertained friends at their home last Saturday evening.

Glad to report Harry Dobbs is able to be around after quite a severe illness.

Mr. Somerl is just keeping abreast of the times. He is having many improvements made to the interior of his ice cream parlor. When finished it will be very attractive. He does quite a business in the summer time.

Mrs. Robert Cummings has had her finger amputated. She has had blood poisoning in her right hand for a long time and has been in Vassar Hospital. It has been a very painful affliction and still causes her a great deal of suffering.

Just go to M. E. Church on February 13th. The Sunday School will give a cafeteria supper and entertainment and you will have a fine time.

Mrs. F. L. Palmer has returned from a visit with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Davenport at Watertown. She reports a very delightful time.

The loose company held a meeting Tuesday evening. Quite a number were present and a good time for all as the hose boys always have a jolly time.

Mrs. Silas Constable of Grand street has been quite ill but at present is improving.

Ida McKinley Council, D. of A. of this place will hold their regular meeting Wednesday evening, February 15th, when two candidates will be initiated. All members most earnestly solicited to be present and all officers and members of the degree team requested to wear white. Refreshments will be served after the work is finished during social hour.

Mrs. S. Hendrick is ill at her home.

Robins have appeared on Milton Avenue and were singing Tuesday Good sign of spring, but we are yet in winter's grasp, so we will wait a while for warm weather.

KERJONKSON.

Kerjorkson, Feb. 9.—James Doyle who was recently appointed postmaster, has sold out his undertaking business and fixtures to Howard Humiston. Mr. Humiston is thoroughly up-to-date in his profession. Increasing patronage is constantly coming to him.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Sherman entertained a number of their friends last week.

Harry Lane who recently returned from New York quite sick is much better.

James Green has bought the portion of the Hardenburgh estate which bordered the state road, from its new owner Arthur Decker.

John Whitaker will take a position in Van Etten's hardware store March 1st.

Lucille, the bright little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Decker is quite ill.

Maynard DeWitt is spending some time with his sister in Massachusetts.

The annual oyster supper of the Reformed Church is an event to which the members of the church and congregation look forward with much pleasure and the one of last Friday night was fully up to expectations. Mrs. Flood, the efficient chairman of the A.M. Society, had an able corps of workers to carry out what was a very successful affair.

The Reformed Church has begun an Evangelistic campaign of three weeks. There will be two weeks of cottage prayer meetings and one week of preaching services in the church by the pastor, assisted by the Rev. Leonard Brown of Accord. Every one will remember the splendid musical conductor who was here last February at the special services. Mr. Robert L. Faxon of Norristown, Pa., and also his wife who accompanied him. They will be here from February 19th to 25th to lead the week this year. Don't miss these meetings.

WE LIVE LONGER THAN OUR FATHERS

Average 15 Years Better Than 100 Years Ago and Is Not Due To Nasty Contingent in Health Work, Dr. Johnston Tells Rotarians.

Kingston Rotary Club voted at its weekly luncheon on Wednesday to make a substantial contribution to the Prosperity Campaign fund now being carried on in the form of various kinds of advertising. A welcome visitor at the meeting was the Rev. M. J. Larkin, a former resident of Kingston, now in charge of a parish in New Rochelle and a member of the Rotary Club in that place. Father Larkin repeated a remark recently made to him by Lawrence Van Etten, another native of Kingston, who is a New Rochelle Rotarian, that brought down the house.

The speaker of the day was Dr. Frank A. Johnston, health officer of the city, who spoke of the real progress in health work, made in spite of the noisy fanatics "with officer mahogany desks, flunkies and secretaries who sit in swivel chairs and think up things for other folks to do." While these fellows make the noise the sane and sensible workers do the work and the average of human life is 15 years greater than it was 100 years ago. Dr. Johnston drew the line sharply between revolutionary, alarmist radicals and conservative workers. A summary of his address follows:

It is not an easy matter to talk on a subject in which one is not unimpairedly in accord, and I must confess that I do not believe in some of the propaganda put forward, and it is not because of all their ideas. I believe we can safely divide, however, the health propagandists into two main classes, the radical and the conservative.

The radicals for the past ten years or more have flooded the country with literature in regard to their fads and fancies, their canons and isms, until we are prone to think of ourselves as wallowing in the slough of degeneracy and imbecility, physical, moral and mental shipwrecks, a country of decadence, waiting for these highbrows and uplifters to sing a funeral dirge for us all, if we do not change our ways.

They sit in nicely furnished offices, with many nice secretaries and flunkies, dreaming dreams of the Millennium, when we shall all reach that magnificent age, that we shall simply emerge into dust by a chance of atmospheric pressure. They fill the press with hobbies and isms, with vitamins and bacteria until we fear for our lives at every mouthful of food, or even each breath of air we breathe. They would have us put to bed in sterile sheets, in sterile rooms, with gas masks for protection on arising. We should wash in sterile water, wear our hair a-la-Harry or Arthur, gargle our throats with alcohol every morning (swallowing the alcohol, of course), don a pair of rubber gloves and proceed to breakfast of what? Fruit? No, for fruit causes cancer. Cereals? No, for uncooked cereals contain worms, and roasting the cereals destroys the wonderful vitamins. Bacon and eggs? No, for there is too much protein and we might get Bright's disease. No coffee, no meat. A few drops of sulphuric acid and sterile water for our first course, a capsule of proteid carbohydrate and fat for our second, and another pill of yeast or vitamins, and we have our breakfast.

We recently had an example in our Rotary attendance contest. Someone who wanted to be sure to get a free dinner placed three doctors on a certain team. I'll tell you why that team was last. One at the table would ask, "George, have some celery?" Oh, no, celery is raw and raw fruit or vegetables will cause cancer. "Some cream, Mark?" Oh, no, these cows were not T. B. tested. "Some potatoes, Frank?" No, thank you, the potatoes are cooked and that destroyed the vitamins. Every one at the table took a mouthful of food, he almost thought he was poisoned, so the attendance fell down.

Just last week I received a large pamphlet containing the lecture of a man named Heath, delivered at the National health conference, in which attention was called to the fact that not only the food was contaminated, but also the air in the food may be injurious, as ice cream, for instance, contained 50 per cent of air, which caused E. P. A. in the Tribune to rise and remark that ever since he was a boy he had avoided eating the hole in the doughnut and had always left on his plate all but the non-atmospheric part of the Swiss cheese.

They advise us to have a yearly physical examination. What happens? You go to the wonderful doctor, you are a little nervous, he examines you thoroughly, and at last takes his stethoscope and applies to your heart. He murmurs, "Auricular fibrillation, how peculiar." He tells you that you are O. K., you leave his office, but those big words of his, auricular fibrillation, keep recurring. You walk along the street, head down, murmuring "auricular fibrillation." You do not see the approaching truck, nor do you see Arthur Carr as he carts off the remains. "Cause of death, auricular fibrillation," contributory even though you were killed by a truck, or if you escape the truck, you see another doctor's sign and hasten over to the good man. "Doc, examine my heart, will you?" And the good doctor says, "Ah, my man, you have a tobacco taste, very erratic. Cut out tobacco." Another says, "Cut out coffee," and another puts you to bed or recommends a change of climate. Then some good friend whispers in your ear and you get up courage and go to a certain elaborate set of offices, you pay in advance for a dozen or more treatments and had, "Oh, joy," that you have no heart trouble at all, but simply have your back broken in three different places. And after 15 or 20 adjustments your vertebrae slips back into place and you are as well as you were a year ago—physically but not financially. There was nothing wrong with you in the first place.

But fortunately, we have a conservative branch of the Health Propaganda Family, to which we owe a and we believe that much can be done without hysteria but by the systematic and progressive use of common sense. We know that our average life is 15 years longer than it was 100 years ago. We know that in the last 10 years in New York state the death rate has decreased from 15.2 to 13 per 1,000, or over 5,000 less deaths a year. We know that in the same time the death rate from T. B. has decreased from 150 per 100,000 to less than 100 per 100,000, and the infant mortality rate from 110 to about 25 per 1,000. You do not see the constant procession of infant funerals from disenteries or cholera infantum that were seen even 20 years ago.

Our lives are prolonged in spite of statements to the contrary. This conservative branch of public health officials advocate certain definite procedures to prolong life and prevent disease. For instance, take T. B. A year ago I called attention to the fact that we controlled carriers of disease germs, such as diphtheria or typhoid, but we let carriers of venereal diseases and T. B. roam at will. Why not compel innocent cases of T. B. to go to an incipient T. B. hospital and receive instruction in regard to his or her health and the protection of others. Instead of using the same cups, spoons, towels, etc., that others in the same family use? Why not furnish general hospital accommodations for venereal disease cases? Our hospitals are not accept such cases. Make adultery a crime. In doing this we would cut down our insane from 4-1000 probably one half.

Tuberculosis, if correctly handled, can ultimately be wiped off the face of the earth. Venereal diseases, causing untold misery and affliction, can be controlled. Alcoholism, in the same category as venereal disease as a cause of unhappiness and insanity, is becoming obsolete. If half the money which is being wasted in the promotion of these isms and vices, these fads and fancies, with their high sounding names and swivel chair presidents and secretaries was used in a practical method of advancing some old sound common sense ideas without the creation of new offices and sinecures for the faithful, without curtailing our liberties or actions, our years would in quality equal and surpass the quantity which these highbrows hope for.

The key to long life has not and will not be found in any one place. It is a process of evolution, not revolution. Beginning with the problem of eugenics and proper marriage, we progress to the care of maternity, the proper attention to the baby, the hygienic instructions of the child, the proper moral, mental and physical hygiene of the growing youth or girl, the earnest and what is also important—the variegated activities of middle life, all leading up to the final chapter of the beginning of decay. Under ordinary circumstances you may be to some extent the arbiter of your own fate, and moderation and common sense will control it in some degree. But if we have a few more Volstead laws, if we must live by rule and measure, if we must be suspicious of every particle of food (or drink) or the air we breathe, why, gentlemen, should any of us desire to live over a century? In spite of all care and precaution the grim reaper will get us. A good active life, a clean life, with moderation and common sense, we are ready to die a natural death—or have a doctor. The main object should not be to prolong life, but to make life more agreeable and more worthwhile to those who are here. Life should not be measured by years but by what we accomplish in the time we are here. Let us teach our children in the schools the value of moral, mental and physical hygiene, give them a better environment if possible and all try to help in the gradual and sure uplift along practical lines of the future generation. Let us carefully consider and remember the talk given us by Cameron Book last week. Let us make the factories, workshops and offices clean, bright and wholesome, and the result will be mirrored in the homes and our lives be not only happier, but longer. Rome was not built in a day, and common sense and moderation will accomplish more than fanaticism and theory in the prolongation as well as the happiness of our lives.

FOURTH BIRNNEWATER

Fourth Birnnewater, Feb. 9.—A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Walton. The gathering being in honor of Mrs. Walton's father, Bennett Freer, who celebrated his 84th birthday anniversary. Relatives and neighbors helped to make merry with singing, dancing, etc. The feature of the evening was several violin selections by Mr. Freer, who also played the violin for dancing. Refreshments were served and the guests departed at a late hour with many congratulations for the genial old gentleman. Out of town guests were Mrs. E. Booth daughter and son from Poughkeepsie.

A pound social is to be held at the home of Mrs. Theodore Menchen Saturday, February 18th. We hope this will be an exception to the previous and there will be a good turnout. Proceeds for the benefit of the chapel.

Those who were prevented from attending the service at the chapel, Sunday evening surely missed hearing a very interesting and inspiring sermon by the Rev. Mr. Finch.

Mr. and Mrs. Dagwater entertained at their home Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Clark, and Mrs. Clark. Several other guests were unable to be present on account of illness. A pleasant time was spent and a delicious repast prepared and enjoyed by those present.

COTTICKILL

Cottickill Feb. 9.—On Saturday evening, February 11, the Ladies' Aid Society of the Cottickill Reformed Church will hold a social at the home of John M. Schaefer in this village. Supper will be served from 6 o'clock, consisting of hot clam chowder, sandwiches, pickles, baked beans, cake and coffee. Ice cream will also be on sale. The public is cordially invited to attend.

On Sunday, February 12, in the Cottickill Reformed Church, the Rev. George C. Hook of Sayville, N. Y., will preach as a candidate for the Stone Ridge-Cottickill charge. Service at 3 p. m. The public is cordially invited.

Dame rumor says a number of new bungalows will be erected in this village in the near future. We trust that the rumor is well founded. P. M. Ruth and family of this village will move to New York city in the near future. We are sorry to see them leave. They were good neighbors and had many friends while living here.

Sunday school at 2 p. m. every Sunday in the Cottickill Reformed Church. All those not members of any other school are cordially invited to attend. Classes for all ages.

A Pretty Frock for the Little Miss. Pattern 3726 is illustrated here. It is cut in 1 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. An 8 year size will require 2 1/2 yards of 36 inch material.

Casper First "Emperor" Julius Caesar was the first ruler to style himself as emperor.

RADIO-PHONE CONCERTS HERE

Demonstration Given Of Instrument
By Which Music, News, Lectures And Reports May Be Heard In The Home.

Not so many years ago the telephone was introduced and all over the country people talked of the wonderful invention. Then came a wireless telegraph by which messages might be sent through the air without the use of wires but this method of sending a message was limited to persons who were patient enough to learn the telegraphic dots and dashes and codes. Now comes the radiophone by which anyone who can understand a spoken language can sit at home and listen to conversation, music, etc., taking place hundreds of miles away. The message is transmitted through the air in the same manner as the wireless telegraph message and all over the country, with a reasonable distance people "listen in" or by equipping their machine with an amplifier may listen to the happenings going on in much the same manner you would listen to a phonograph.

Joseph A. McNeil & Company, electrical contractors of this city have, introduced this novel idea of entertainment by radio in Kingston. At their store on Main street, they have one of the new Westinghouse radio-phonograph outfits and for the past several days have been listening to concerts given at Newark, Pittsburgh and even as far away as Chicago. These concerts, lectures, current events of the day, vaudeville sketches, weather and agricultural crop reports are broadcast by radio, through the air, through the courtesy of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company located at Newark, N. J. Through a central station from where the messages and concerts are sent the waves go out in all directions only to be picked up miles away by radio-phonograph. They also have stations located at Springfield, Mass., Pittsburgh, Pa., and Chicago, Ill.

From each one of these stations a program is sent out each day between 11 a. m. and 11 p. m., and all that is necessary to hear is to tune up the receiving instrument and "listen in." The receiving instrument consists of an aerial such as used in wireless telegraphy and the receiving instrument, which is enclosed in a wooden box about a foot square and which may be set on any small table. The receiver consists of a regenerative receiver which is connected with a detector and two stage amplifier which employ three vacuum tubes which are energized by a storage battery. The tube contains three elements, namely, a grid, plate and filament. Flashlight cells are employed to energize the plates of the tube, namely 22 volts. The detector tubes receive the signals by cutting in the first stage of amplification and the strength of signals are produced very loud by cutting in the second stage and with a loud speaker the music or voice is faithfully reproduced to be heard all over the house. In some instances music had been produced loud enough to enable 50 couples to dance by the music in a private home or hall.

It seems impossible to sit down in an easy chair at home, light up the tubes and adjust a small control button and suddenly hear someone say, "This is W. J. Z. one of the radio-phonograph and broadcasting stations of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company located at Newark, N. J. Our first selection will be a piano selection entitled, 'Your Eyes Have Told Me So.'"

This sort of program goes on until 11 o'clock at night. Through the Westinghouse Company Mr. McNeil has availed himself of this opportunity to introduce the new novelty of entertainment and already several people in town have placed orders for machines and a local Radio Club is in process of being formed.

In New Jersey near the central station it is said one in every three families has a receiving station, this is due to the fact that a very small set is sufficient to receive. The distance away from the sending station governs the size and cost of the set required. A small set which will receive up to 25 miles away may be purchased for as low as $15 but for a distance of 100 miles a set would cost in the neighborhood of $100. If the person wishes to receive from the Chicago or other distant stations a still larger set is necessary.

Wednesday evening Mr. McNeil invited a number of friends to share the concert with him and at one time an entertainment being given in Chicago was heard as clearly as though it had been across the street. Pittsburgh was also reached and the program at Newark, N. J., was listened to. There are thousands of radio-phonographs already installed in greater New York and the news of the day as well as the entertainment program is heard. Another feature of the apparatus is that anyone who can read the wireless code can pick up messages being sent out. An employee of the Westinghouse Company who was here a few days ago picked up a wireless message from a United States ship in distress off the coast. At the time the people here were inclined to believe that it was a "fairly tale" but on picking up the New York morning papers the following morning found the item among the news of the day. The new device is attracting a great deal of interest all over the east and many of the daily papers print a program of the number to be sent out each night from the various sending stations. Undoubtedly many Kingstonians will soon be enjoying grand opera in their own homes instead of traveling miles to hear it.

BLOOMINGTON.

Bloomington, Feb. 9.—Christian Endeavor meeting at 7 o'clock. Topic, "Better Purposes." Num. 14:20-24. Decision day consecration meeting. Leader, Mrs. Joseph Yonkers. An invitation is given to everybody to come.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cohen of Kingston spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Markle.

Miss Catherine Rowe was able to be out on Sunday after being ill for a week with the grip.

Mrs. Joseph Yonker has been spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Barrett, of Fort Lee, N. J., who has been in poor health while she was there.

Miss Underhill, who has been stopping with the Misses Snyder for some time at Creek Locks, was taken to the Kingston City Hospital on Wednesday of last week, as she was in a critical condition. Ed. Lefever conveyed her there in his auto.

Funeral of Mrs. Hannah M. Reiley, whose body was brought here for burial on Friday, took place at 2 o'clock in the church. The Rev. Mr. Polhemus had charge of the services.

Mrs. Ira Bush and niece, Miss Olive Melk, visited Kingston on Saturday, doing their shopping.

Miss Olive Melk, who has been ill with a severe cold, is able to be out again.

The rag bee which the Ladies' Aid Society held on Wednesday of the past week, was largely attended and enjoyed by all. The meeting was held in the afternoon and they added another member to their society.

Mrs. Stephen Mowell of Creek Locks, who has been ill with the grip, is around again. Her daughter, Mrs. James Dugan, is home caring for her.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Warner and parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pangburn, entertained pleasantly a number of their neighbors and friends at their home on Wednesday of last week. The evening was enjoyed in card and domino playing, also some fine selections were rendered on the piano by the hostess and also by some of the crowd. Dancing was also indulged in and at midnight they were all invited to the dining room where the hostess had prepared a bountiful repast which they certainly enjoyed. In the wee small hours of the morning they all departed for their homes, agreeing they had been royally entertained.

Edward Lefever has filled his ice house with fine ice from Wilbur and has also filled the V. E. Dession ice house at Creek Locks.

Mrs. McGinn, who has been ill for the past two weeks, is slowly improving.

Mrs. Mary Reiley is confined to her bed with the grip. Miss Florence has also been ill, but is able to be out again.

Studebaker

A SIX for the Price of a Four!

You can buy a Studebaker LIGHT-SIX today at a four-cylinder price!

But you cannot buy Studebaker LIGHT-SIX performance in ANY Four.

You get more for your money in the Studebaker LIGHT-SIX than in any other car in the thousand-dollar class. Because:

- (1) Studebaker had the biggest volume in its history in 1921.
- (2) Studebaker sales in 1921 were 29 per cent greater than in 1920 while the total of all other makes was 45 per cent less than in 1920.
- (3) Studebaker is the world's largest builder of six-cylinder cars—builds nothing but sixes.

Studebaker builds the LIGHT-SIX for less than it costs most manufacturers to turn out a four, because it is produced complete in the Studebaker plants.

The average list-price of the better-known fours is $1200. This does not include the high-priced fours. The Studebaker LIGHT-SIX Touring Car line at only $1045.

Studebaker builds economically and sells at a low price because of continuous large volume, efficient production and skillful purchase of materials.

The new low price of the LIGHT-SIX was established without lowering the quality one iota. Its intrinsic value is unsurpassed in the industry, regardless of price. Today's price of the Studebaker LIGHT-SIX is the lowest at which it has ever been sold.

Don Not Unlike Lower Animals. Darwin says that weeping is a habit but "must have been acquired since man branched off from the common progenitor of the genus homo and of the sub-genus anthropomorphus." This assertion causes us to regret to ourselves one more point of difference between us and the lower animals, until we read on and find as account by this same author of an Indian elephant, which, when held captive, sobbed bitterly while tears rolled down his face.—Chicago Daily News.

MAGNATES DODGE DRAFT PROBLEMS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 9.—American League club owners are enroute for their homes today following their colorless annual meeting yesterday. No trades were consummated and no definite action was taken regarding the perplexing selective draft problem, although the magnates discussed the draft situation at some length. It is understood that when the magnates of the two major leagues meet in joint session in Chicago late this month, steps will be taken to make the American Association, International Pacific Coast, Western, and Southern Leagues, abide by the selective system. Twenty-one minor leagues are in favor of the draft and have accepted it, as it stands.

The plan adopted by the American League moguls to reward the American League player who does the most for his club, both on and after the playing field, with a prize or emblem to cost not less than $1,000 and to give him a place in baseball's hall of fame, is expected to increase the morale of the clubs. The award will be based on the point system and playing managers will not be eligible for the yearly prize.

The World's Temperature.

During the fall both land and water are gradually losing their heat, and they continue to do so during January and February, which, therefore, average colder than December during a normal winter. The earth does not really commence to gain heat until March, and the least heat is radiated during January and February. In other words, it takes the sun's increasing heat about two months to produce sufficient warmth to offset the slow cooling of the earth's crust, which has been taking place since the following August.—S. K. Pearson Jr., Cooperative Observer United States Weather Bureau, in New York Post.

She Remembered.

Rosemary was four years old and was always inquisitive. One day her mother was sleeping and a young looking insect ran from beneath the rug. Her mother told her it was a "thousand-legged worm."

About a week later Rosemary was drawing some pictures. Her mother asked what the drawing was supposed to be. Rosemary said: "Why, mother, don't you know. It's a picture of the several-legged worm we saw the other day."

Safety First.

Johnny, only three years old, was being entertained with some music on the phonograph. He was told by his aunt that he would soon hear a bear growl. Johnny looked very much frightened, and then whispered: "Oh, Anny, don't open those doors on de Wicktown or bear might tum out."—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

FEATURING ANNA Q. NILLSON

The pulsating, dynamic question of the hour—"Why Girls Leave Home."

Contrasting the lives of two souls dragged out of the pit dug by their parents.

Heard in the lap of luxury and dazzled by gaiety, she played the game with a reckless abandon, until—

In an evening gown the garb of degradation? See "Why Girls Leave Home."

Sixty-five thousands girls disappeared last year—why do girls leave home?

The slumbering fire of freedom were kindled anew, and divorcing herself of the domestic straightjacket she faced the world alone.

THERE ARE THOUSANDS OF REASONS—

The most important of which are vividly depicted in this pulse-stirring photo-drama adapted from the famous stage success.

THE AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for The Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

IN ARMY AT THE AGE OF 14

Stephen S. Tillman of Washington, D. C., served as a private in the army during the World War at the mature age of fourteen years. He was regularly enlisted and didn't have to lie about his age.

Just before he went to the recruiting office he cut the numerals "18" out of a calendar and pasted them in the heels of his shoes. When the recruiting officer asked him how old he was, Tillman replied: "I'm over eighteen." They swore him in.

Being a trifle smaller than a regulation army rifle, he was detailed as a bugler. He went to the Mexican border with his company, "B" of the Third D. C. Infantry. Coming back from the border as the United States entered the World War, he did guard duty along Conduet road, Washington, where several hundred attractive young women were taking an intensive training course. But he was only sixteen years old then.

Now he is sergeant-at-arms of George Washington Post No. 1 of the American Legion, Washington, the first Legion post organized. His father is a retired cavalry officer.

THE TRAYLOR FAMILY HELPED

Father, Mother, Four Sons and Two Daughters in Uniform During the World War.

When the old question of "who won the war" comes up, the Traylor family of Trenton, Mo., may step forward and admit that they helped. The commanding officer of the family that was 100 per cent in active service was the father, W. S. Traylor, rank-private.

Mr. Traylor, his wife, four sons and two daughters were all in uniform. When war was declared, Mr. Traylor closed up his general store, donned the uniform of a buck private in the quartermaster corps and did his bit well, despite his fifty-three years. Mother and the sisters were on active duty with the Red Cross.

Of the four sons, Charles was with the Eighty-ninth division and was wounded. Frank was an aviator. Orville served with the adjutant general's department and Roy was with the Thirty-first railway engineers.

JUMPING BEANS FOR GIRLS

Sick and Wounded Veterans in New Mexico Hospitals Are Hungry for Cheer Letters.

Trained to leap through hoops and stand unhit, thousands of genuine Mexican jumping beans are awaiting girls of the United States who will write a little letter of cheer to a disabled soldier. The exchange of letters for jumping beans is being made through Hermann G. Baca, Santa Fe, N. M., adjutant of the American Legion of the state.

Five thousand sick and wounded veterans of the World War, recuperating in hospitals in New Mexico, have trained the beans. The young men are terribly lonesome, Mr. Baca writes, and they will send a bean to every girl who will write a letter to them.

The jumping beans are dark brown, somewhat larger than the ordinary bean. The animation of the vegetable is caused by a tiny worm that crawls into the bean and consumes the edible portion. After the worm is dead, the bean keeps on jumping.

Presidents as Military Men

More than half of the presidents of the United States have held some military rank, according to The American Legion Weekly. Of the whole line of twenty-eight presidents sixteen were military men, and of the succession following the Civil War Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur and Harrison were generals; Roosevelt was a colonel and McKinley was a major.

Unto the End

"How's this?" asked the lawyer. "You've named six bankers in your will to be pall-bearers. Of course, it's all right, but wouldn't you rather choose some friends with whom you are on better terms?"

"No, judge, that's all right. Those fellows have carried me for so long they might as well finish the job."—American Legion Weekly.

Salt Supply Here to Stay

The salt supply is not likely to be exhausted. Every spot of sea water contains a half ounce of salt and it is estimated that there is salt enough in the seas to cover the entire globe to a depth of 60 feet. The Scandinavians and people of Northern Russia are the greatest salt eaters in the world.

LEGION WORKER IN CONGRESS

Hamilton Fish, Jr., One of Writers of Preamble to Constitution, Seeks Increase in Compensation.

The preamble to the constitution of the American Legion has been called one of the simplest, most effective and beautiful pronouncements in the English language.

Three men wrote it in St. Louis, Mo., in 1910 and it never has been, nor probably never will be, changed. The men were John Greenway of Arizona, Judge Davis of Oregon and Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York.

Mr. Fish is now in congress helping to put into effect the policies recited by the preamble he helped write. He has a bill pending to increase the compensation from $20 to $50 for the nurses of blind, legless, armless and totally disabled ex-soldiers. He is an ardent advocate of reclamation of land through irrigation, to encourage ex-servicemen to take up farming as a vocation.

At Harvard he was captain of the varsity football team. In France he led a company of negro soldiers in the Fifteenth New York Infantry and received the Croix de Guerre for bravery.

GETS FUNDS FOR CLUBHOUSE

Spokane, (Wash.) Girl, Post Historian, Successful in Procuring Cash for Comrades' Headquarters.

When the Legion post of Spokane, Wash., needed help in raising funds for a new clubhouse for the city, it turned to a girl holding the uninspiring job of post historian. Miss Myrtle Wilson thereupon made and wrote post history by securing pledges amounting to $8,000 for the clubhouse.

In addition to writing history, Miss Wilson is advertising manager of the post newspaper, and was a delegate to the Legion national convention. During the war she served in the navy at the government hospital in San Diego, Cal. In a popular contest in the San Diego Legion post she was chosen queen without opposition.

TRIES TO TRACE ARMY SLANG

"Doughboy," "I'll Tell the World" and "Out of Luck," "Old Stuff," New Yorker Says.

If the American "doughboy" who started "I'll tell the world" as a characteristic expression of the A. E. F. took pride in having coined a new expression he was "out of luck," according to Henry Dwight, Yonkers, N. Y., who has been trying to trace army slang to its source.

In relating his uncertain success and asking the assistance of the demobilized world at large, Mr. Dwight declares that each of the three supposed innovations is time-worn.

Referring to the expressions quoted above, he claims that General Custer, the Indian fighter, used "doughboy" in letters to his wife, and that Arthur Young, writer and traveler, announced himself as being "out of luck" when hunting for mail at Dijon, France, in 1780.

"I'll tell the world" remains untraced. It is thought to be very old and verification of this belief is now sought.

Carrying On With the American Legion

Government controlled institutions are schooling 60,000 former service men and are directed by the veterans' bureau.

"Legion Park," named after the local post in Bucyrus, O., contains a tree in memory of the unknown dead in the war.

Abraham Krotchinsky, the "Lost Battalion" messenger who was cited for his deed, has gone to Palestine to accept an offered farm.

A building worth $25,000 and a pledge for $10,000 for its renovation have been given Lee C. Prentiss post of the American Legion by the people of Fairmont, Minn.

Twenty-four lodgers were rescued from the burning Y. M. C. A. at Somerville, Mass., by the American Legion, which clothed and lodged them in the post's club.

The success of the Centralia (Ill.) post of the American Legion last summer in giving outdoor dances has led to a series of indoor dances for the winter. The series is sponsored by the post.

A year elapsed after George Reid, Montevideo, Minn., was discharged before his friends discovered that he had the D. S. C. Reid, an artilleryman of the Rainbow division, continued to fire his piece after being wounded and routed the Germans.

Cleaning Up Paint Stains

J. M. C. writes: "You might add to your collection of odd similes this one from 'Mr. Waddington of Wreck': This month, thrust out under the big rough moustache, was running over her face like a vacuum cleaner."—Boston Transcript.

PHONES 1188-1189.

A view of the home of William Desmond Taylor in Los Angeles, where he was found murdered. The arrow marks the room in which Taylor's body was found. Detectives are here shown consulting on the case.

Here is something new in nuptials. A California miss and her lover, wishing to be different, arranged to have the knot tied on the beach near Los Angeles which they both frequented during the days of their courtship. The couple, Mr. and Mrs. Del Carmen, were married by the Reverend Dr. C. D. Cole.

Ivory Nut

There are two species of palms producing nuts hard enough to be employed as a substitute for ivory in the manufacture of small articles of domestic use, but the one best known to commerce under the name of ivory nut is the fruit of Phytelephas macrocarpa, native of New Granada and other parts of Central America.

The True Poem

Some people imagine that any fine thought is poetry, but there was never a greater mistake. A fine thought, to become poetry, must be assumed in the upper warm markets of the mind for long and long, then it must be brought down and slowly carved into words, polished with love. Kiss it is no true poem.—David Grayson.

Tree Seeds by No Means Alike

Tree seeds vary greatly in the amount of time they take before they sprout. Seeds of the Kentucky coffee tree must lie in the ground at least two years before their hard coats are sufficiently softened to allow the sprout to escape, while cottonwood seeds die within a few hours if they do not fall on favorable soil.

Pretty Barbara Joyce, actress and mous divorcée, has called for Europe to spend several months. While abroad she says that she will write a memoirs of her married life with a three millionaire husbands.

Edward F. Sands, also known as Edward Fitz Strathmore, former valet for William Desmond Taylor, prominent movie director who was found slain in his Los Angeles home, is sought by police for questioning in connection with the crime. Sands previously had been charged by Taylor with larceny, having stolen several articles from Taylor's home.

KIWANIS FOR MORE POLICE

Agrees With Chief Wood and Police Board That Four New Traffic Cops Will Be Needed to Take Care of Auto Congestion.

Chief of Police Wood today addressed the Kiwanis Club on the prospect for greatly increased automobile traffic in Kingston the coming summer and the increasing of the number of traffic policemen to take care of it. Later the club adopted a resolution of Dr. Harry R. Meluhardt endorsing the attempt of the chief of police and board of police commissioners to have these (4) new officers appointed and trained to handle this increased traffic, or "that in case these new officers are not appointed, that four officers of the present force be trained in handling traffic."

Chief Wood considered that the present police force is giving about all the service that number of men can give and that any traffic officers named will have to be additions to the regular force and should not be special officers, whose services are unskilled and general upon this phase of police work whose importance has grown greatly with the more general use of the automobile, along much the same lines as in his annual report printed in The Freeman, Poughkeepsie, with half the territory to patrol, has 35 patrolmen to Kingston's 23, and Newburgh with about half our street mileage, has 28 to our 23.

As to the number of officers it will require to give reasonably efficient service at Wall and North Front streets, Wall and John streets, McEntee street and Broadway and at Abel and Wurtz streets, the chief said it would depend on how long these points must be protected each day.

The following schedule would require six officers at an additional cost to the taxpayers of about $3,000; 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., North Front and Wall; 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., Wall and John; 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., McEntee and Broadway.

Mr. Winne's Birthday.

Alonso E. Winne received the congratulations of scores of friends today upon the anniversary which makes him seventy-five years young. Mr. Winne's statement regarding his age was received with surprise by a majority of his friends because he looks not much more than half that age but friends who remember back twenty-five years or more concluded at once that their estimate must be out of alignment with the facts and that Mr. Winne must know his own age. At the end of twenty-five more years they hope he will find time to tell interesting reminiscences, but at present he is too busy getting the enjoyment which comes from seventy-five years of good health and clear conscience to bother much about such things.

In Memoriam.
In loving remembrance of our beloved daughter and sister, Isabel Stewart, entered into eternal rest three years ago today, February 9th, 1918.

With broken hearts of sorrow,
Three years ago today,
We watched her— one we loved so dearly.

Silently pass away.
No one knows the silent heartache,
Only those who have lost can tell
Of the grief that is borne in silence
For the one we loved so well.

MANSION HOUSE TO BE REPAIRED

Mrs. Leventhal of New York City, owner of the Mansion House at the Strand and Broadway, arrived in Kingston this morning, and is taking immediate steps to have the building placed in a safe condition. The fire department recently made an investigation of the Mansion House and reported to the board of public works that the building was believed to be unsafe.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Thomas Izoe, formerly of Fish Creek, Sagerties, died in Brooklyn, Monday, February 6. The body was brought to Sagerties Wednesday afternoon and taken to St. Mary's Cemetery.

Mrs. James Walker, a resident of Malden, Sagerties, many years ago, died in Pleasantville, N. Y., Tuesday, February 7. The body was brought to Sagerties Wednesday. Burial in Mountain View Cemetery.

The Rev. George Stanley Davis, sixty-three years old, a former pastor of Methodist churches at Highland, Hyde Park, Saugerties, Pine Hill, Shandaken and of the Hedding Street, Poughkeepsie, died at his home at Poughkeepsie Tuesday.

Mrs. Alfred Elgnor died at her residence in Pine Hill on Tuesday, February 7. Mrs. Elgnor was the kind and loving mother of the following children: Leslie and Harold of Pine Hill, Eugene of Big Indian, Ivan Elgnor and Mrs. W. H. Elwyn of Woodstock. The funeral will take place Saturday at two o'clock at the Pine Hill M. E. Church with interment in the family plot in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Friends in Mettacaughts were shocked on Friday last to hear of the death of peritonitis of Ellsworth Northrop of Staten Island. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Northrop, Mrs. Northrop before her marriage was Miss Jennie Wood of Mettacaughts and her husband taught school in Mettacaughts before their marriage. She was a sister of James Wood and Chester Wood, Ellsworth was a frequent summer visitor of his aunts, Mrs. H. M. Burger and Mrs. Edgar Quick and was well liked by many friends. He was 26 years of age. Funeral was Monday afternoon at four o'clock.

Funeral services for Mrs. George Coutant were held from the late home in Highland Tuesday afternoon, her pastor, the Rev. F. A. Conna officiating. She will be greatly missed in her home and she was a member of Auxiliary Club of Highland and always attended the meetings and assisted in every way possible. She is survived by her husband and three sons. Two residing in Highland and one in New York. The funeral was largely attended and the many floral emblems gave evidence of the high esteem in which she was held. Interment was in Lloyd cemetery.

Anthony Hoffman, a life long and highly respected citizen of this city, died early this morning after a short illness. Mr. Hoffman was a faithful member of St. Peter's Church, St. Peter's Holy Name Society and the Exempt Firemen's Association, of which he was a director and trustee for a great many years. He had long been employed by the Cornell Steamboat Company and was held in high esteem by all who knew him. He is survived by two sons, J. Francis Hoffman of this city and Daniel P. Hoffman of Albany. The funeral will be held from his late home, No. 82 Chambers street, Saturday morning at 9 o'clock and 9:30 o'clock at St. Peter's Church, where a requiem Mass will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment in the family plot in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Mrs. Mary McNulty, wife of Andrew McNulty, died at her home, No. 52 Seymour street, this morning, following a brief illness. HALF UNIONTOWN'S PEOPLE HAVE FLU

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Uniontown, Pa., Feb. 9.—Ten thousand persons, about one half of the population of this city, are ill with influenza, according to a statement issued today by Health Officer W. C. Hall of this city. The situation, he said, is alarming and he declared unless exceptionally drastic measures are taken to combat the spread of the disease, the whole city will be stricken with the malady.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 9.—The stock market opened quiet today with few price changes in either direction. U. S. Steel started 1/2 lower at $6 1/2, and then rallied to 8 1/2. Gulf States Steel was 1/2 higher at 7 1/2 while Crucible Steel was 1/2 lower at 69 1/2. Studebaker showed a loss of 1/4, 95 1/2 and Chandler was 3/4 lower at 63 1/2. Baldwin Locomotive was unchanged at 191 and United Retail Stores showed a loss of 1/4 at 34 1/2. Castlino Pipe was 1/4 higher at 23 1/2. The railroad shares were fractionally lower, New Haven dropping 1/4 to 17 1/2.

Although there was a far more cheerful sentiment in important circles over the bonus law provisions, the market did not hold an improvement which was recorded in the early trading. The movement generally consisted of moderate gains which were lost towards the end of the hour. U. S. Steel which moved up from 8 1/2 to 8 5/8 yielded to 8 1/2 and Baldwin Locomotive, after making a gain of 1/4 to 191 1/2, fell back to 190 1/2. Studebaker which was in demand for a time advanced 1 1/2 to 96 1/2 but reacted to 95 1/2.

Dreherbach-Nicklaus.
Mr. and Mrs. August P. Nicklaus of MacDonald street, Sagerties, announce the marriage of their daughter, Charlotte C. to Alexander P. Dreherbach of Jersey City, N. J., on Thursday, January 26.

Atharhacton Club.
This week the Atharhacton Club met with Miss Louise Van Hovenberg at her home on Wall street. The afternoon was devoted to the discussion of next year's program, but no definite decision was reached. Next week the club will meet with Miss Edith Holmes at her home on West Chester street.

Bill Powells Farewell.
Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Powell will leave Kingston Friday for California where they will remain until spring, and Wednesday evening they were agreeably surprised by a number of their friends who dropped in at their home, No. 31 West Chestnut street, to bid them farewell. The evening was delightfully spent with games and music and refreshments were served. Among those present were the Rev. and Mrs. R. P. Ingraham, Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Tremper, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight McEntee, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tongue, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Freidell, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Lang, Mrs. Frank L. Eastman and Mrs. Charles Neebe.

Circle No. 2, of the Junior Ladies' Aid of St. James' M. E. Church, will hold a sale of home made candy and cake on Saturday afternoon, February 11, at the Rose-Gorman-Rose store. Proceeds for the dinner fund which will be held the week following Easter.

Trinity Ladies' Aid will hold one of their famous cake sales at the home of Mrs. Henry Eldridge, 38 Staples street, Friday afternoon, February 10th from two to five o'clock. The committee in charge expect to have a variety of delicious home-made food for sale. Orders may be telephoned to Mrs. Monroe Burger or Mrs. Eldridge and receive careful attention.

The primary department of the First Presbyterian Sunday school will hold a food sale in the lecture room of the church Friday afternoon, February 10, between the hours of 3 and 5. Home made cake, bread, biscuits and other goodies will be on sale and the patronage of the public is earnestly desired as the proceeds are for the piano fund.

HEAVY DAMAGE BY FIRE IN MONTREAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Montreal, Quebec, Feb. 9.—Fire which gutted the Standard Life Assurance Building and threatened to spread to other big buildings of the financial district, was said to be under control at 11 a. m. with loss estimated between a half and three quarters of a million dollars.

The fire started at 5 a. m. and in five hours swept through the building, destroying it, while firemen battled in dense smoke and against terrific difficulties, to save the National Trust Company, Royal Bank and Dominion Express Building on one side, and Montreal Street, Car & Waterman Buildings on the other.

Fireproof walls saved the district, but adjoining buildings were flooded and it was doubtful whether the Star would be able to publish from its own premises.

MEN WELCOME AT NURSING CLASS

They May Need Knowledge Same as Women—300 Present at Wednesday Night's Instruction.

So large was the attendance at the free nursing class held at the high school Wednesday evening—over 300 present—that it was found necessary to hold the class in the auditorium. Before telling about the class there are one or two things that it has been deemed wise that the public should know about this work.

So far there are but a few men enrolled, yet we all remember how much worse off than we were we should have been at the time of the last flu epidemic had it not been for the valuable assistance of many men who proved to be good nurses or who were really nurses. Under such circumstances more men in the classes would be cordially welcomed from now on.

At each class—and there will be two a week on Monday and Wednesday evenings—there will be both a talk on some special feature or care of the sick and a practical demonstration in which those enrolled will have a chance to take a part. Dr. Johnston, the health officer, is scheduled to speak on "Disease Prevention." It will be noted that two physicians of the health board are actively interested. Dr. Day and Dr. Johnston.

The next class will be held next Monday evening in the high school auditorium at 7:30 o'clock.

Following the roll call Wednesday, Dr. Mary Gage-Day gave a talk on the pulse, the temperature and respiration; under normal conditions and in case of cold. Following the talk those present learned to count the pulse and the respiration. In addition to the clinical thermometers which some of the class members had brought with them, the physicians in charge had a number of thermometers which taking the class in small groups they were taught to read and use.

Then Dr. O'Meara announced that he had a real disappointment for all. They had been waiting for Dr. Cranston, who was to talk on the eye, ear, nose and throat, but most unfortunately for all concerned, Dr. Cranston had just been taken sick and could not be present.

However, there were several Benediction nurses present and in the gymnasium two groups of people at a time were shown how to make a bed for a sick person. While they waited the process this time, next week they will have more beds for the demonstration and the class members will be given the opportunity to actually do the bed-making themselves and will probably learn how to make a bed with the patient in the bed.

The physicians present and giving instruction were Dr. Mary Gage-Day, Dr. Mark O'Meara, Dr. John P. Larkin and Dr. E. E. Billings.

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

Dean Kleiss is ill of grip at the home of his uncle, Archie Dean, on Main street.

J. Fred Tietjen, who has been for some time ill at the Dr. Kemble Sanitarium, Clinton avenue, is able to be about again.

Judge James Jenkins, who has been confined to his home, 35 Johnston avenue, with a severe attack of the grip, is greatly improved.

C. E. Bevier, druggist with the Connely Drug Company, who has been six weeks under treatment for ear trouble with Dr. Dobson, specialist, of Poughkeepsie, is improving.

Word has been received in this city from Dr. and Mrs. Guernsey Merchant (formerly Miss Helen Thomas) of the serious sickness of their little boy, Hubert Williston Merchant, who has pneumonia. Dr. and Mrs. Merchant, formerly of Kingston, are living and the doctor is practicing dentistry at Deposit, N. Y.

Electric Bell for Poultry House.

Many people have been bothered with night prowlers around and about the buildings. The following plan may be used in installing electric bells, which will immediately sound an alarm. A strip of copper is bent around the doorknob shank, and is clamped with a small screw, which is also used as a terminal. Fasten a metal strip to the door and bend it out between the prongs of the strip on the knob. Attach a wire to this strip and run to the electric bell. Now when the knob is turned in either direction the circuit is closed and the bell will ring.—Experimenter.

Crabs That Crush Concrete.

An extraordinary discovery was made recently by men working on a bridge in Florida. For many years it has been the custom for engineers to protect wooden piles and piers under water by encasing them in concrete, which saves them from the ravages of destructive sea worms. Now it has been discovered that the small stone crab can dig through the hardest concrete and break it up completely. The result is a new and very serious problem for engineers in places where this crab abounds, for concrete casing has been regarded hitherto as a cheap and excellent form of protection.

In the Romance
Drug Store

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS.

Imogene was twenty-two, the prettiest girl in the block and the eldest child in a family of eight.

She had a beau, of course—no girl so pretty and pliant and altogether desirable could miss having some young fellow "crazy about her." In spite of the fact that he nearly had to fight his way through sprawling children and curious neighbors to reach her side.

Imogene's beau was young Bill Jennings, a likeable fellow several years Imogene's senior, and holding a good position in a downtown bank.

All during the hot summer Bill had been calling regularly on Imogene, plotting his wheezing blither through the hot streets to her home, and being the life of the party at more than one family gathering, where the younger children fought all over the place, or played cracked pieces on the family photograph, or made sly remarks about big sister and her "feller." And when the nights had grown cooler and the hint of autumn was in the air, Imogene had come to feel that Bill was the one man in the world for her.

But what chance was there for Bill to propose? Time and again as Imogene pictured to herself the joys of a little home of her own, where she could make the coffee, which Bill so liked, for Bill alone, instead of a great profusion of brothers and sisters, and where the clock of evening would bring Bill home from work and happiness of heart, she sighed mournfully and felt that it was no use. Not only did there appear to be no chance for Bill to pop the question, but also Imogene feared that her tumultuous family might eventually drive Bill from her to some quieter home.

And then came the evening when love enveloped Imogene in a pink cloud of pure joy.

And how unpropitious the evening started! Almost the minute after Bill had parked his car at the curb in front of the Herick home young Jim Herick, aged seventeen, bounded into the driver's seat and announced that he was going to borrow the car for a while. Imogene's heart sank as she saw Jim tearing down the street. Later Imogene's mother had been allowing her to take short rides with Bill in the ancient flivver, and Imogene had been rather counting on a ride this evening. Tonight she had felt was to be the night of nights, and yet here was the one best chance for giving Bill an opportunity to speak gone to smash.

"I'm awfully sorry," said Imogene to Bill. "I just wish father was here—he'd not let Jim do a thing like that."

"Oh, never mind," said Bill, a trifle ruefully. "Let's go in the house and play the phonograph. I've brought a new record."

Imogene led the way into the parlor. Much to her surprise the parlor was empty. What luck! Perhaps, now—

Bill placed the record on the machine and started it. The place was a fox trot. He held out his arms to Imogene and she floated into them.

They were good dancers and liked to dance together. And now, thought Imogene, now would be the time. She felt Bill hold her more tightly.

"Dear," whispered Bill, softly, "let's—"

But Bill got no farther than that. For into the room dashed tempestuous Nellie, one of Imogene's younger sisters.

"Gee, it's a new record, ain't it?" cried Nellie, excitedly. "Did you bring it, Bill?"

"Yes," said Bill shortly, in a voice that was plainly irritated.

Imogene's heart sank. If Bill was to be always interrupted perhaps he'd become tired and quit entirely. And life without Bill would be very bleak indeed. A tremor of fear possessed her. She must do something quickly.

She simply couldn't let Bill get away. Gently Imogene disengaged herself.

"Oh, Bill," she explained, as a happy idea came to her, "let's go to the family theater tonight. There's a good film there."

"It's pretty hot," demurred Bill, rather ungraciously.

"Please," whispered Imogene, clutching Bill's arm and gazing at him with eyes filled with adoration.

"All right," said Bill.

Imogene had figured that with the weather so hot there would be but few people in the family theater. And in the darkness of the theater there would surely be a chance for Bill.

Imogene was right about the scarcity of the people in the theater. But no sooner had she and Bill seated themselves in a dark spot well at the rear than it fortune once more came flying. Hardly had Bill possessed himself of her hand than Imogene's parents entered the theater, and unsuspectingly seated themselves in the row just to the rear.

Imogene felt Bill's discomfiture as an actual physical force depressing her heart. She was dismayed and fearful. Over and over again she kept telling herself: "It's tonight or not at all. Tonight or not at all."

The picture seemed interminable to Imogene. But at last it was over. At last they walked out of the theater. Surely now there would be a chance for Bill. But Mr. Herick, feeling in a jovial mood, invited Imogene and Bill to have a soda at the Smith Brothers' drug store down at the corner. Again Imogene felt Bill's resentment at this further intrusion of her family. And again Imogene felt distressed and fearful.

But there was nothing to do save to accept the invitation. And so to the drug store, through crowded streets, Imogene and Bill went.

To all appearances the Smith Brothers' drug store was the last place in the world for romance. It was a busy place, crowded to suffocation and common in appearance. But here it was that romance came to Imogene.

DISCUSSION AND SPORT AT Y. M. C. A.

The board of directors of the Young Men's Christian Association held their regular monthly meeting and supper at the association's meeting room. The regular monthly business was transacted and reports for the last month were read. Those present were President Canfield, W.
D. DeWitt, W. Niles, Harry Ensign, Fessenden, L. Boers and J. R. Millard.

A very successful meeting of the local Y. M. C. A. was held last evening. After the supper two discussion classes were held with marked success. At the close of the discussion classes, ice cream and cake were served.

The two scheduled games of basketball were held in the gymnasium with the Arrows and the Athletics coming out on top in their respective matches. Dederick, of the Arrows, was high scorer for his team, making 12 points, followed by MacFadden, who made one point.

For the Arrows MacFadden and Schmidt rolled up the points scoring 12 and 11 respectively. Rowland, of the Arrows, was the mainstay of his followers and he scored more individual points than did his opponents, the Athletics, whose team pulled them to the winning position.

The basketball score was:
First game:
Antlers, 25; 2 12
Stumpff, 10; 1 7
Hennett, 10; 0 0

BIG EXHIBITION GAME TONIGHT

The Original Celtic Basketball Team
Oppose Manager Morgan's
State League at Local Court.

Everything is in readiness at the armory court for this evening's struggle, when the original Celtics, claimants of the national professional basketball championship, contend with the local state league team.

The Manhattan aggregation of stars are probably the best known basketball team in the country. They have played about ninety-five games this season and lost four. They will come to this city with the following players: Johnny Beckman, who played with the Kingston team a number of years ago and made his start in the professional game; Nat Holman, Chris Leonard, Tommy Barry, Ernie Rein and Dutch Dehner, and their famous manager, Furey.

The Kingston team will start the game with the following in action:
Borgman, who faced these same players on different occasions; Nick Harvey, who also has been in the circle; Artus, Clinton and Lehr, who have made good showings in the league games.

From the number of reserved seats sold and the number who were disappointed, it is expected that the armory will be taxed to its capacity.
A referee from Paterson, N. J., said to be a wonder at his profession, will hand out the decisions. The game is scheduled to start at 8:30. The usual dancing will follow to the music of Balfe's orchestra.

M'MILLIN SAYS HERO STUFF IS ALL BUNK

Football Star Is Far From Matinee Idol Type.

Ten Other Players on Centre College Team Made It Possible for "Bo" to Carry Ball—News Hounds Made Him Goat.

For three years "Bo" McMillin has been one of the most talked about individuals in college football.

In the eyes of many football enthusiasts, McMillin is the last word, the big idol of the gridiron. Often one finds a mental picture of their hero.
A great many football enthusiasts have never seen McMillin in person.

If you have pictured McMillin as the collar ad type of athlete you are all wrong. McMillin is far from the matinee idol type. Neither would you pick him out of the crowd as the best-dressed athlete on the Centre college squad.

"Bo" isn't strong on style. No follow could sport a name like that and pose as a "clean runner." He wears no fancy Norfolk suit made out of some sporty cloth. He is always neat.

"Bo" McMillin.

ly and quietly attired. He is probably the most popular player in the Centre college squad. He would pick as "Bo" Mc-Millin.

His favorite shirt is a blue one with white stripes. He has a compass for his necktie. Blue and white, there you have a clash of colors, but "Bo" doesn't mind that.

Yes, McMillin is superstitious. Most great athletes are. He always wears in both No. 7. The number on the back of his football jersey is always eleven.

Get the idea, seven come eleven. A couple of naturals, graphometer's delight.

"Bo" refused to be interviewed as to whether or not he dabbled in African golf.

Does "Bo" McMillin regard himself as the Centre college hero, one of the big national figures in football? Judge for yourself from what he says:

"This talk about the great 'Bo' Mc-Millin is all bunk," he says. "There are eleven men in every play. The Centre college team hasn't any heroes.
On every football team there is some player who carries the ball often than another."

"I accepted that position on the Centre college eleven. Such a player usually gets all the credit. The other ten players make it possible for him to carry the ball."

"Centre has a great team. The news hounds had to make someone the hero.
They made me the goat. While I appreciate all the honors that have been conferred on me, I don't deserve them."

There you have a glimpse of "Bo"
McMillin, as he looks and thinks.

OPPOSE WOMEN ON COM. I. TEES

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 9.—There promises to be a lively fight in the assembly over the bill sponsored by Assemblyman Livermore, Westchester Republican, which provides for representation of women on county political committees. Speaker Machold says it will be passed.

Assemblyman George H. Rowe, Buffalo Republican, chairman of the powerful judiciary committee, is opposed to the measure. He was the only member of the judiciary committee which voted against reporting it out.

The measure was recommended by Governor Miller in his annual message to the law-makers, and the leaders in both senate and assembly are reported to have assured the governor that they will have it passed.

There was some talk that the bill might be amended so as to provide that the men on the county committee should be the senior member, and the woman the junior, but this was quashed by Speaker Machold.

HOLY CROSS MIDGETS DEFEAT YOUNG CELTICS

The Holy Cross Midgets won an-

If Slim Harris of the Athletics could field bunts he would be one of to his feet that he gets all tangled up when he bends over and usually gets the impression that he is playing football the way he kicks the pill

$50,000 FOR NEW LINKS

More than $50,000 will be the initial construction expense for the new Silver Springs golf club course in the Washington district.

This will include the building of an artificial lake and the opening up of eight springs.
Donald Ross has the contract, and work was started on January 1.

Because of the natural layout of the land and the fine turf it is expected that the course will be playable by April 1.

Neon's Peculiar Property.

Neon, one of the rarest elements of the air, has the peculiar characteristic of glowing bright red when an electric current passes through it, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. This has been utilized in a new spark plug tester, consisting of a hard rubber shell that contains a small glass tube of neon. When the metal cap, sealing the tube, touches a spark plug, the action of the neon quickly shows whether the plug is working or not.

THOUGH 75, GEERS IS STILL GREAT DRIVER

"Pop" Is One of Most Skillful Reinsmen on Turf.

Dubbed "Silent Man" by Followers of Harness Racing Because of Few Words, Yet He Is Most Companionable of Men.

The "Grand Old Man" of harness racing, Edward F. Geers, known to every follower of the sulky game as "Pop Geers," is seventy-five years old,
"Pop" despite his advanced years, is still one of the most skillful reins-men among those who actually race through the grand circuit, and is also dubbed the "silent man" by followers of harness racing, because of the few words he speaks when he is engaged in his work at the race track.

Yet the veteran reinsman is a most companionable man after working hours with those who have the good fortune to enjoy his acquaintance.

During the racing season, when the horsemen gather in the hotels, after the day's racing is over, to discuss the events and other horse matters,
"Pop" Geers can always be seen surrounded by a group of friends and acquaintances among whom he is never chary in entertaining, with stories of his many experiences in the 50 years his field no matter if his best friends are opposed to him, using every legiti-mate trick of the game to land his horse a winner, but in his long career he has never voluntarily lodged a complaint with the judges against another driver.

Winning or losing, the veteran never changes the expression on his face, but chews on the end of his never absent cigar, and it is greatly due to his lack of comment over the result of a race that he has really earned the reputation of the "silent man."

"Pop" is now at Menphis, Tenn., where he has his training stable, and Dame Rinnor says the veteran has entirely recovered from the injury he received when a horse fell on him at Syracuse, and that he is already preparing to mount the sulky for next season's campaign.

No other trainer and driver has the universal friendship and admiration of his fellow-trainers in the degree the "silent man" has.
